"PUT THE SOUL
INTO THE DOLLAR"

Proper use of the Dollar by the People Urged by Bankers.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 27.—National bankers gathered here at the annual convention of the American Bankers Ass'n. were told last night by John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency, that they could fulfill their duty to the world in the great financial reconstruction following the European war only if they "put the soul of the people in the use and application of the dollars."

"We have outgrown responsibility to our country and generation," said Mr. Williams. "We have become responsible to the whole world because we have become the supreme world power, especially in that vital department reaching to the root and core of all things which we here directly represent—the financial. It is for you, gentlemen, controlling the powerful banking interests of this supreme country, to determine whether the dollars of our country shall prey upon our country and the world with teeth and claws, or shall have souls put into them to uphold, to help to heal the horrible scars of war, to lift the stricken to strength and hope."

Progress of Banking.
The comptroller spoke before the national bank section of the association. He reviewed the progress of banking under the federal reserve law, sketched the commanding position the United States has taken in world finance, declared that for the first time America had become distinctly a creditor nation, urged the bankers to take a more active interest in politics, and warned them against the danger of too great concentration of wealth at the expense of small enterprises.

"It is not hard to grasp the thought that this country of ours, which in 1902 had already reached a pinnacle among the nations, has since that year doubled the volume of its business in virtually all the great cities of the land," asked he. "If we should divide the new wealth created annually among all the men, women and children engaged at work they would have not far from a thousand dollars per year each."

Huge Bank Deposits.
"Our deposits in all the banks throughout the United States at this time are so huge that if there should be withdrawn from these banks an amount of deposits equal to the total resources at this time of the Bank of England, the Bank of France, the Bank of Spain, the Bank of the Netherlands, the Bank of Norway, the Bank of Sweden, the National Bank of Switzerland and the Imperial Bank of Japan, all combined, the deposits of our banks would still be as great as they were three years ago."

"If a balance should be struck today the probabilities are that we would find ourselves for the first time in our history, a distinctly creditor nation. We hold a mortgage on the world's physical assets. The world holds a mortgage on our soul, on our good will and broad nobility of purpose."

"Patriotic Americans have a right to gloat over such a showing with swelling pride. Thoughtful Americans will find in them cause for fear that wealth may betray us into rapacity and inequality of distribution that will mean destruction. We are in a world infinitely vaster than Rome knew. We

Doctor Says Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate
People 200% in Ten Days

In many instances—Persons have suffered untold agony for years doctoring for nervous weakness, stomach, liver or kidney disease or some other ailment when their real trouble was lack of iron in the blood.—How to tell.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—In a recent discourse Dr. E. Bauer, a well known specialist who has studied widely both this country and Europe, said: "If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill, you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who are deficient in iron. The iron deficiency is the cause of all the dangerous symptoms of disease. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue, and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the corn will not grind. As a result of this the continuous blood and nerve starvation people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down, and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is two healthy fat; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night; others are irritable and tired all day; some are thin and some are fat; some are pale and some are red. In such cases it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or flogging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what any one tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming can hold in it power and place far beyond the wildest vision of the proud, old Roman. In all times of our adversity, in all times of our prosperity, in the hour of death and the day of judgment, good Lord deliver us" runs the litany. Men wise as Caesar Augustus wrote that for us to use in our prayers. They understood his he did that the dangers of prosperity are as deadly as those of adversity, death and judgment.

Upholding of Enterprises.
"The law of gravitation, as we know, applies in finance as in the physical world. Huge accumulations of value naturally draw to themselves the lesser masses. While we are planning gigantic schemes for world development let us not forget that the most immediate and vital business duties which lie before us relate to the upbuilding of our home enterprises, especially the small factories and mills and development undertakings in the lesser cities and towns and in our country districts. These provide the surest and safest foundation on which to erect national wealth."

The comptroller paid tribute to Secretary McAdoo, who, he said, had solved financial problems during the past three years, compared to which the tasks of Hamilton, Gallatin, Chase, McCulloch and Sherman seem small. In summing up the results achieved under the federal reserve system, Mr. Williams said rates for money had been lowered and equalized, business of all kinds placed on a stronger foundation, and bank failures greatly reduced.

Mighty Task Before Us.
"It is certain that just before us, a few months or two or three years," he said, in conclusion, "a mighty task is to be done to reorganize and re-establish the nations of the earth. We have the right to do it to our own profit. But it is our duty and our opportunity to let the word 'fair' go hand in hand with the word 'profit.' Let us have the American soul go in company with the great American dollar. We have the people with the souls in their hands. We have the dollars beyond our most exaggerated hopes. If we put the soul of the people in the use and application of the dollars, the loftiest and noblest conceptions of the centuries will be fulfilled by us. And, gentlemen, you govern the use of the dollars."

GOVERNOR FINISHES ROAD INVESTIGATION

Salt Lake, Sept. 27.—Governor William Spry returned yesterday from an extended trip through the Dixie country. The object was to locate a suitable place for the convicts to work this coming winter in Washington county. Warden Arthur Pratt accompanied the governor and is well satisfied with the general conclusions reached, but which will not be announced definitely for a time.

Everything will depend upon food prices and the amount the state has on hand to meet any demand says the governor. "The men will stay in Davis county until the frost interferes with their work. Then they will be immediately shipped to Dixie land."

PRESENCE OF MIND.
"Oh, John!" shrieked Mrs. Derkins. "The baby has swallowed a silver piece."

Mr. Derkins took a handful of change out of his pocket and looked it over.

"Calm yourself, Maria," he said. "It was that counterfeit quarter I've been trying to get rid of."—Brooklyn Citizen.

FAIRBANKS TO BE ASKED QUESTIONS

Path Through Colorado
Strewn With Queries on Liquor Traffic.

ANSWER IS DEMANDED

Prohibition Special Making
Flying Trip Through Towns
—Headed for Utah.

Salida, Colo., Sept. 27.—Interrogations for Coloradoans to ask Charles Warren Fairbanks, the Republican vice presidential nominee, regarding his attitude on the liquor question when he arrives here this week were strewn along his path through the state today by J. Frank Hanly, the prohibition presidential candidate.

"Ask him what he intends to do on the liquor question," Hanly said here. "Ask if there is any reason to suppose that he and his running mate will take any step toward furthering the abolition of the liquor traffic."

"Demand of him an answer. He is asking power at your hands and you have a right to know what he intends to do with it if it is granted."

"I challenge you, if you desire to test his willingness, to give you national prohibition, to ask him to say one word against the pending amendment in this state which would permit the sale of beer."

"I challenge you to ask him to say one word against the pending amendment in this state which would permit the sale of beer."

The prohibition left Colorado Springs early after meetings in churches there last night. One of the meetings was transferred at the eleventh hour because the pastor of a Presbyterian church declined to grant its use for a "political meeting."

He said he had understood a religious organization and not a political party wanted the use of the church.

Cities to be visited today were Leadville, Glenwood Springs and Grand Junction, Colorado.

PROBING A NEW
BLACKMAIL PLOT

Rich Iowan Fleeed Out of $10,000 by Man Posing as Government Agent.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Investigation of a new blackmail plot involving a rich Iowan who is alleged to have been fleeced out of $10,000, was started by federal officials today.

The method of extortion was declared to be the same as was employed by the so-called $1,000,000 blackmail syndicate, agents of the federal department of justice said. Two young women and a Chicago attorney are involved. Neither the names nor the names of the Iowa victim will be made public until arrests are made.

The Iowa merchant, who is a widower, is said to have been surprised in a compromising situation, and his arrest by a man posing as a government agent followed. Pleadings of his companions led to the suggestion, federal officials said, that the affair might be adjusted by the payment of money. The Iowan paid.

ONION MARSH FIRE
IN HARDING COUNTY

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 26.—The Onion marsh fire in Harding county which has been burning for two days, was beyond control tonight and spreading rapidly. Company B, Ninth battalion Ohio national guard (colored), was ordered out to fight the fire tonight and has entrained, with mess outfits for several hundred men and supplies of tools for the citizens' organization that is fighting the flames.

A strong wind saved McGuffey, a town in the district, after the fire had reached within a quarter mile of the town. The fire fighters have been driven back from the trenches dug during the last two days, and the fire now extends over 1,500 acres. New trenches are being dug tonight in an effort to confine the fire. Backfires have been lighted to clear the path of the flames.

It is predicted by growers that the Onion bed fire will burn all winter, in the deposit of onion-top peat which covers the area to a depth of three feet. The crops will be practically a total loss. The McGuffey marshes are considered the largest in the world.

Long Branch, N. J., Sept. 27.—An elaborate program for the visit of President Wilson to Omaha, Neb., October 5, was submitted to the executive office here today. The program, which has not yet been approved by the president, includes a parade in addition to a speech. The president played golf during the morning.

WRITER TELLS OF FALL OF COMBLES

Most Picturesque Incident in Course of Great Somme Offensive.

WOUNDED IN CELLARS

British Pounding Whole Line
With Seemingly Inexhaustible Supply of Shells.

British Front in France, Sept. 26, via London, Sept. 27, 4:05 a. m.—The capture of Combles was one of the most picturesque incidents in the whole course of the great Somme offensive. It marked the opening of today's forward surge of the British and French forces which reached its climax in the capture of Guedecourt and Thiepval.

All night long bitter fighting had been in progress at various points on the front and with dawn the battle broadened to include the whole British left. Combles fell as the sun rose on a perfect summer day. Sitting in the midst of a heap of hills the town was isolated yesterday by the seizing of the high ground on either side by the French and British. In the early hours of the morning the British took an orchard in the northern outskirts and then, after a heavy preliminary shelling, they charged the trenches on the edge of the village. The trenches were empty when they reached them. At the same time the French, dashing forward on the other side of the village, pushed victoriously forward into the heart of the village. In the main street the soldiers of the two nations met and joyously shook hands, calling out to each other "Parlez vous" and "How d'ye do."

Germans Taken Prisoners.

Combles had a labyrinth of dugouts and well fortified cellars but at the last particularly no defense was made. Those Germans who had not managed to escape when the town was hopelessly surrounded, were taken prisoners. One lot of Germans who were endeavoring to find a way through the encircling allied infantry walked into the British skirmishing line. The cellar and dugouts of the village were full of wounded who found security there from the furious fighting on the slopes and ridges. Having cleared Combles of any stray Germans the British and French moved on side by side to further attacks. One of the most striking features of the fighting last night and today was the surprisingly slight resistance offered at Morval and Combles by the Germans, according to all reports made by the British officers.

The Germans made the usual counter-attacks against the British new positions last night but the reports to allied headquarters agreed that they lacked spirit. Some German trenches taken yesterday were lightly occupied, or not at all. In other instances the allied commanders stated that considerable bodies of Germans threw down their rifles promptly as soon as the attackers approached their trenches, although it was known that they had orders to stand to the last. Batches of prisoners have been coming in from all parts of the front throughout the day.

Strong Defense at Guedecourt.

In their attack yesterday the British found the strongest defense made in front of Guedecourt. There the Germans used their machine guns with the tenacity and unyielding courage which has hitherto characterized them. The British resumed the attack today and tonight all the village is in their possession. Both today and yesterday, the Germans showed an inclination to withdraw their guns immediately they were in any danger, evidently desiring to take no risk of losing any of their artillery. This sometimes leaves their troops in the front line unprotected by the cannon fire and may account for the number of surrenders.

British Pounding Whole Line.

In the meantime the British continue to pound the whole line with their seemingly inexhaustible supply of shells, leaving the Germans in doubt as to what sector will be the next to be attacked by the infantry. The first warning that the Germans have that the British seek to gain a certain frontage is a sudden increase of gunfire in that sector to a tornado under which it does not seem possible that a mouse could escape alive. Usually this tornado is brief compared to the old fashion of artillery preparation while it last long enough to enable the British infantry to rush from their lines to the German trenches while all the German machine guns and rifle fire are still in the air.

It is amazing how the co-operation of infantry and artillery has improved by the battle practice of the offensive.

About mid-day today the British left had its turn in the region of Thiepval at the other extreme of the battle front from Combles. Here the fighting line joins the old German front trench line and the Germans, in their dugouts and galleries have fought with the skill and stubbornness which characterized them in this kind of warfare.

"They stick like glue to these dugouts," said one British soldier, "because they know that once they are pushed back we do not give them time to dig any more."

Capture of Thiepval.
A blackish hemp of dirt on the crest of a ridge is all that remains of Thiepval. On the top of that heap there still rise a few black sticks, tree trunks silvered and hewn by shell fire which have escaped being downed by a direct hit. On July 1 the first

MORE GUARDS ARE SENT TO BORDER

Organizations From Various States to Replace 10,000 to Be Returned Home.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Some six thousand national guardsmen from thirteen states and the District of Columbia were ordered to the Mexican border today by the war department and at the same time Major General Funston was directed to select ten thousand troops now on the border patrol for return to their home states to be mustered out of the federal service.

Today's order will send south virtually all of the guardsmen now in the mobilization camps of the states named and will leave only about 10,000 state troops in all the country that have not seen service on the border. Within a short time the remainder probably will be ordered out, releasing more of the organizations now under General Funston's command. The gradual return and mustering out of all the guardsmen then is expected to begin.

Washington, Sept. 27.—National guard organizations from New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, District of Columbia, Virginia, New York, Alabama, Georgia, Connecticut, Florida, Michigan, Minnesota, Colorado and California were ordered to the Mexican border today by the war department.

Instructions were sent to General Funston ordering him to select upon the arrival of these organizations at the border, 10,000 national guard infantry now on duty there and return them to state mobilization camps. Battery A, field artillery, Maryland, it was announced will be returned to the state mobilization camp and mustered out of the federal service.

The organizations ordered south include:

Field artillery battery A, New Hampshire; battery C, New Jersey, and Third Pennsylvania regiment, battery A, District of Columbia; First battalion and battery C, Virginia; Third New York regiment; batteries A, B, C, Alabama; First battalion, Georgia; batteries E, and F, Connecticut; batteries A and B, Michigan; first regiment, (less Second Battalion) Minnesota and batteries B and C, Colorado.

Infantry, Second Florida regiment; Third District of Columbia regiment; Cavalry, Troop A, District of Columbia; Engineers, Company A, California.
